

Help for employers

We have a range of services and financial support available. Whether you're thinking of closing, downsizing, or reducing people's hours; or if you're in need of workers, talk to us before you make any decisions.

Redeployment Support Service

Help to connect staff with new employment or upskilling opportunities.

Redundancy Support

Confidential support and advice for you, and your staff, if you think you might need to make staff redundant or reduce their hours.

Free Recruitment Services

If you need people, use our free service to advertise your vacancies, shortlist candidates and organise interviews, to help you find the right person.

Retaining and/or retraining staff

Financial support to help retain and/or retrain staff into other areas of your business.

Working with us

We're here to provide you with options before you make any decisions.

- Contact
- Employer Line: 0800 778 008
Monday to Friday, 8am to 6pm
 - RedeploymentSupport@msd.govt.nz
 - workandincome.govt.nz/employers

Help with essential costs

Work and Income may be able to help people, even when they're still in employment.

If someone is worried about their job, or is working fewer hours and has a lower income, they may be able to get some financial assistance from us.

Even if someone doesn't think they qualify, they should talk with us about their situation.

Find out more at workandincome.govt.nz (click on 'Check what you might get').