Budget plan
Step 3 – Managing your money

Putting together and planning a budget helps you understand more about how to manage your money. Everyone can benefit from managing their money better and it is a good idea to do a budget plan, or redo the one you have, to make sure it is still helping you.

There are three steps listed below to help you make your plan. We have a separate worksheet for each step. Do them one-by-one to build your plan over time.

Step 1
Your money

Budgeting is not just about how much you spend. It is about where you spend your money. Writing down the money you get helps you to set goals to see if there are any ways to reduce your costs and money you owe. It also helps you think of ways to start saving.

Step 2
Your goals

Setting goals is a good way to start helping you decide how you spend your money in the future. It is about changing the way you manage your money to see if there are any ways to spend less and increase the money you get.

Step 3
Managing your money

A budget plan needs to change when something different happens in your life. You might move house and have to pay more or less than you were paying before, or you might get part-time work which means you have more money now.

Your budget plan will need to show any new income or costs. You might need to set some new goals so you keep planning ahead for you and your family/whānau.

Sharing your budget plan with a case manager helps us to support you. You will be able to talk about the things that are going well and what you are are doing to manage your money. A case manager will also ask you if you need any help to reach or change some of your goals.

Keep your plan safe

When you make changes to your budget plan you need to bring it along to your next appointment. If you would like a copy to be kept on your record you can ask a case manager to do this for you.

Step 3 – Managing your money

You can use the space below to tell us how you are doing since you set some goals. This will help you to see what is going well and if you need to change your plan or make new goals.

You can also let us know if you think there is something else we can help you with.
